Yeddyurappa to take oath as CM at 6 pm today

Is this a pre-emptive move to ward off Speaker's likely adverse move?

BJP State President B.S. Yeddyurappa presenting a bouquet to Governor Vajubhai Rudabhai Vala at Raj Bhavan in Bengaluru this morning.

Bengaluru, July 26 (UNI&Agencies)- Ending speculations over Karnataka's political crisis, BJP State President B.S. Yeddyurappa was invited by Governor Vajubhai Rudabhai Vala this morning to stake claim to form the new Government. Seventy-six-year-old Yeddyurappa, a three-time Chief Minister of the State, will be sworn in at the Raj Bhavan between 6 and 6.15 pm today.

Naming and name-calling

Sparing time to draw an unending list of names by which people, places in the land and articles are identified as well as trying to know their various features such as when and how they took birth can be both fascinating and illuminating. Before dwelling further on the topic of names, the world of difference between naming for many purposes, including identification and hailing to draw attention, and name-calling makes it necessary to use the term without disturbing the hornet's nest as it were. Name-calling, being a form of verbal abuse in which insulting an individual is the agenda, the free-for-all exchanges mutually hurled by the elected representatives of Legislative Assembly of Karnataka during the days and week before the war of words among them has just ended a couple of days ago serve as best example. On the other hand, focussing on the subject of naming places in particular across the land, a field in which Anthropologists and also Philologists excel may be considered as time well-spent.

While the structures in places of worship and sculpted idols therein across the country are portrayed as the work of its ancient people dating back to several centuries, pundits have taken the trouble of tracing their origins and also circumstances that led to naming them. In many such locations of shrines that draw devotees in large numbers, scholarly written booklets titled sthala purana (local legend) are given to visitors with a sense of pride. Where such ancient names have been changed by alien rulers in many places, the matter merits review.

Sentiment, attachment and sense of pride mark the desire to persist with the names of their respective territories on the part of residents tracing their identity with their ancestors of many centuries vintage and erase the names of those places changed by alien rulers, whoever they may be, particularly to establish their hegemony, cannot be denied. The measure of renaming 12 places in Karnataka recently, such as Gulbarga to Kalaburagi, Bijapur to Vijayapura, Bangalore to Bengaluru, Mysore to Mysuru and so on can be cited as examples of changing names without any hitch. Not so, the cases of change from Gurgaon to Gurugram and Allahabad to Prayagraj, that are justified on historical grounds.

If the principle of sons-of-the-soil has its meaning in matters of preference for livelihood, so also the principle of voice-of-the-people, indigenous as opposed to aliens, also has its meaning in retaining, read returning, to earlier names of their respective residential areas. Lastly, the not-so-often-heard call for changing the name of the land from India to Bharat may be the harbinger of naming places across the land as they ought to be, without resorting to name-calling.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The other day, I killed an ant which was wandering near a bottle of honey in my kitchen. As I stared at the dead ant, an unexpected series of thoughts arose in me. Some ants may have been waiting for it to come back. Could be its queen mate. And the children too. They would be worried as the hours passed. Did any other ant see what I did? And rush to inform the ant colony? The colony must have cursed me as they shed tears. Death can be so random for ants, especially when they are wandering inside houses. On that morning, its queen mate could have said, "I am not feeling good that you are going hunting for food in houses. Why not a garden or a park?" It would have consoled her, and said, "Don't worry, I will be careful." But unfortunately, he ran out of luck. Dangers could lurk anywhere. For peace of mind, we should follow the tenets of ahimsa: Do not injure, abuse, oppress, enslave, insult, torment, torture or kill any creature or living being. — Shevlin Sebastian in The New Indian Express

Thai Restaurant serving same batch soup for 45 years

Bangkok: One of the most popular restaurants in Bangkok's Ekkamai neighborhood named Wattana Panich, with hundreds of hungry patrons coming in to feast on its selection of delicious soups and stews every day.

One of the most popular dishes at Wattana Panich is the rich beef noodle soup, made with stewed and raw beef, tripe, meatballs, internal organs and spices. But the most important ingredient is the broth, which, believe it or not, has been simmering for 45 years. It sounds strange, but it's true. Instead of throwing away the leftover broth every night, the owners of Wattana Panich carefully strain it and store it to be used as the base for next day's batch of soup. They've been doing this every day for over four decades and credit it as the main secret to their delicious dishes.

Dog walks 200 kms to return to her owners

Krasnoyarsk: A one-year-old Bullmastiff named Maru, traveling on train through the Siberian taiga, reportedly jumped off and walked over 200 km trying to return to the owner who had rejected her.

Born at a kennel at Novosibirsk, Maru was sold to a family in the Siberian city of Krasnoyarsk, 800 km away, when she was only five months old. Six months later, kennel owner received a call from the dog's owners informing her that they could no longer look after their pet. The kennel owner had someone get Maru and accompany her on a train back to Novosibirsk, but 200 km into the journey, Maru who jumped on the compartment door, kicked the handle to open it, and almost threw the conductor out of the way. When the door opened, she jumped out of the train as it was approaching the station in Achinsk, a city between Krasnoyarsk and Novosibirsk.

Two-and-a-half days later, Maru was located in the Krasnoyarsk industrial area, when she was trying to return to her former owners' home.

HEALTH CAPSULE by Bron Smith

What causes me to wake up repeatedly in the middle of the night?

If you wake up to urinate more than 2 or 3 times per night, you may have an over-active bladder or if you're a man, an enlarged prostate. If you're a light sleeper, try earplugs to shut out unwanted noise. A sleep mask may also be helpful.

Nitin Gadkari to Rahul Gandhi: Ban on Bandipur night traffic will stay

File Photo

New Delhi, July 26- Former Congress President and Wayanad MP Rahul Gandhi, has asked the Union Government if there is a proposal to mediate and find an alternative to lift the night-time traffic ban in Bandipur National Park and Tiger Reserve.

In an unstarred question to the Lok Sabha, which was answered yesterday, Rahul Gandhi asked if the Centre was aware of the "hardships to a large number of people living in north Malabar" due to the night ban on NH-212 through the National Park. Rahul had promised the people of Kerala that he will find a solution to the problems that the restrictions on vehicular movement along National Highway.

Responding to the question, Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari said that there was no plan to lift the ban on traffic movement at night inside the Bandipur Tiger Reserve.

Gadkari informed the Wayanad MP that it had been decided at a high-level meeting attended by the senior bureaucrats of the two States and chaired by the Union Cabinet Secretary to continue with the ban on vehicular movement during the night to prevent disturbance to wildlife.

"It was recommended that status quo shall be maintained on restriction of night-time traffic through Bandipur National Park, as it is a core area of wildlife habitat and an alternative route is available for night traffic, and four buses and emergency vehicles are permitted through the park," replied Nitin Gadkari.

Incidentally, under the erstwhile Congress Government in Karnataka between 2013 and 2018, the Forest Department had vehemently opposed the decision to lift the ban despite pleas from the Kerala Government, which had cited economic loss due to the closure. Numerous studies showed the ban of traffic between 9 pm and 6 am had led to increased wildlife movement on the highway.

Rahul Gandhi asked if the Centre proposes to mediate to find an alternative to lift the ban "without disturbing wildlife", and whether it was "ready to amicably find a solution by calling a meeting of the Chief Ministers of Kerala and Karnataka." He also enquired if there was a proposal to construct an elevated corridor through the park.

The ban was imposed by the Chamarajanagar District Administration in 2009, and was upheld by the High Court of Karnataka on 2010. Based on a Special Leave Petition filed by the Kerala Transport Department in the Supreme Court, an expert committee was constituted to sort the issue.

Horse dung smell nauseates visitors to Palace

Mysuru, July 26 (MK&NNN)- The horses being tied in the premises outside the world famous Mysore Palace is irritating the tourists.

The tourists have nothing against the splendid animals but what they are very unhappy about is the dung of horses land the stink it creates.

The horses are tied daily near the Kote Maramma Temple that lies between the Varaha Gate and Jaya Marthanda Gate. The tourists and the pedestrians who walk through these gates are assaulted with the smell of the dung and they are forced to close their noses and walk.

There is a rule that no animals should be allowed inside the beautifully constructed iron grills compound of the Palace. However, violating all rules, the horses are being tied inside the compound. In a few places even the iron grills are broken and have fallen.

Garbage, broken tiles

There is garbage strewn around the attractive Mysore Palace. A few of the tiles where the pedestrians walk is also broken and as a result there are a few pits. This is posing danger to the tourists as they could slip into the pit and fracture their legs especially when they are in a hurry to enter the Palace.

A visitor who was in awe of the Palace, however, pointed out to Star of Mysore that the garbage, the stink of the horse dung and the pits, all rob the exalting experience of the world famous Palace.

Wadiyar assets' auction

Apex Court restrains action on 'dummy bidder' in Mysuru

New Delhi, July 26- The Supreme Court, in a case related to fraudulent auctioning of a 10 acre property worth Rs.8.5 crore belonging to the former 'Maharaja of Mysore' for a meagre amount of Rs. 21 lakh in 1995, has restrained the CBI and other authorities from taking any coercive action against one Narayanmurthy. He has been convicted in this case and sentenced to three years imprisonment.

The properties were next to Mysuru Zoo and belonged to late Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar, descendant of former Maharaja of Mysore, and had dues amounting to Rs.7.51 crore to the Income Tax (I-T) Department as arrears. He had written to the then Finance Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh against the I-T officers for under-valuing properties worth crores of rupees, which led the CBI to register an FIR on Feb.5, 1996, against several persons including public servants.

A Bench of Justices — Rohinton Fali Nariman and Surya Kant issued notice to CBI on a special leave petition filed by advocate Sanjay M. Nuli on behalf of petitioner Narayanamurthy.

The petitioner challenged the Karnataka High Court's judgement of Apr. 3, 2019, which confirmed the Trial Court's order of conviction and sentence of three years imprisonment against him for acting as 'dummy bidder' during the auctioning of properties on Oct.20, 1995. After admitting his appeal for consideration, the top Court directed, "No coercive steps shall be taken against the petitioner in the meantime." The Court granted him exemption from surrender.

The petitioner contended that the offences of cheating and forgery were not made against him because he had no intention or motive to participate in auction or cheat the I-T Department and there was no evidence to prove he received commission or consideration for it. Further, no witness identified him as having participated in the auction, said Narayanamurthy.

Meanwhile, sources in the erstwhile royal family told SOM that this issue as far as they were concerned was settled long ago as the auction had been set aside, the property restored and as there is no I-T dues.

VOICE OF THE READER

Remembering my teacher, Dr. Indrani

Sir,

I am deeply saddened to hear about Dr. Indrani, CFTRI scientist, who passed away in an accident in Lucknow recently.

Dr. Indrani

She was absolutely the best teacher I ever had and she was one of my favourite teachers too. I was a student in International School of Milling Technology, CFTRI, Mysore (32nd batch student) in 2012-2013. Dr. Indrani used to teach us Cereal Science, which is the heart of Milling Technology.

She played a vital role in shaping of our lives. She had deep knowledge about Bread and gave us amazing knowledge during practicals.

Henry Brooks Adams had said, "A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops." Thanks to her encouragement, I started a small bread manufacturing unit, Jadhav Foods. She gave me all information and technique to set up the plant which has now completed three years and running successfully. Whenever I had any problem in my unit, I would call her and she would solve it.

Though she is not amidst us today she will always remain in our hearts forever. RIP

Online payment of water bill: Suggestions to MCC

Sir,

Kudos to the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) for facilitating bill payment for water dues online. However, there are a couple of implementation problems that need to be solved. One is bills of value below eighty rupees are not allowed.

Second, consumers need to be allowed to pay advance towards bills likely to be due. This is possible in the CESC bill payment system.

The authorities concerned are requested to kindly implement a similar facility in the online bill payment and oblige for the convenience of the public.

Some Roadside Ramblings!

It was reported in the press very recently that our Government that existed technically until two days ago was thinking of building a median with Jersey Barriers all along the Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway that is right now under renovation. I used the term 'technically' because I felt that it was the most appropriate way of defining the existence of our State Government.

I'm sure that you will all agree with me that although we had a Government in its rightful place it simply did not function as one all through the fourteen months of its existence. Every one of the MLAs, who were a part of it, irrespective of their party affiliations, whom we had elected at great cost and effort to have some responsible governance, let us down with their own petty squabbling to hold on to power and pelf from day one in a shameful showdown that culminated this week. But it is a sad irony that none of them seem shamefaced or even sheepish over their pathetic performance!

Anyway, let us leave aside what can perhaps never be set right in our lifetimes and return to the road I am talking about. For the information of those who do not know what Jersey Barriers are they are the waist high concrete barriers that are now being commonly used as road dividers in most of our cities and towns. They are called so not because they resemble Jersey cows but simply because they were first used in the US State of New Jersey in the early 1950s. However, it may be noted that concrete barriers of various other designs and dimensions were in use both in the US, Canada and many European countries much earlier too.

The idea of replacing the existing, less than a foot high, median nearer home with a taller and much more resistant one seems justified considering the very frequent instances we are seeing of speeding vehicles going out of control and jumping across to the other side of the road with disastrous consequences. But there is a flip side to this move. Our existing median although very low, has an additional screen of different kinds of hedge plants with sufficient height to block the glare of the headlights of oncoming vehicles at night. The presence of such a screen contributes in a very large measure both to the comfort and safety of driving on such a Highway.

Now, if we have a median made up of Jersey Barriers of the standard height we are likely to lose this safety measure. So my suggestion is that while having sufficiently strong concrete medians we should ensure that we have them of a height that effectively blocks the glare of headlights from oncoming vehicles. But whom am I addressing here, with no full-fledged Government that can take forward our ongoing projects or even listen to us? Nevertheless, Government or no Government, we citizens would do well to prevail upon whoever is executing our road widening work to give our needs and suggestions a heed.

With the crises that we are seeing in our Vidhana Soudha which has now sadly become a 'Nidhana Soudha,' it is very likely that the Mysuru-Bengaluru road widening work too will get considerably slowed down. Yes, we are even likely to see tenders sanctioned by the previous Government being cancelled with allegations of many malpractices and misdeeds if a new Government comes to power. In the event of such a scenario we should insist on at least the quick completion of bypass roads to skirt the five major towns lying on this route which is where we find the worst traffic snarls well before Dasara arrives which is going to be very soon. This will prevent much frustration and inconvenience both to us and our guests. While keeping our fingers crossed let us hope that we and also all those who are destined to govern us too find a road to some peace, comfort, safety and sanity wherever we are headed!

Of Nitrogen and Good Old Air!

In a knee jerk reaction to the ghastly bus accident that claimed nearly thirty lives on the Yamuna Expressway recently, our Transport Ministry at the Centre has announced that it may make use of nitrogen gas mandatory as the inflating medium for tyres of all vehicles. In thinking along these lines the Government too seems to have fallen prey to the very commonly floated misconception that nitrogen will make a great deal of difference to our road safety. It is unlikely to do so because there's no evidence that the use of nitrogen makes our vehicles safer. The promoters of nitrogen, who failed to make any impact across the world, flouted the fanciful idea perhaps as a money-making gimmick. It was based on the propagandas that with nitrogen molecules being larger than oxygen molecules they would leak out more slowly through the rubber of vehicle tyres thus saving us the bother of refilling them as often as we now do.

But what they perhaps do not understand is that nitrogen already constitutes eighty percent of the composition of atmospheric air with oxygen and all other gases constituting the remaining twenty percent, a fact that is well-known to any school child. So by opting for pure nitrogen we would not be doing anything great to what we have been having in our tyres all these years. We would on the other hand only be handing out our hard earned money to buy the purified nitrogen that we do not need, as pure nitrogen will not come free like our good old plain air, however polluted it may be!

The second promotional banter that nitrogen will help tyres to remain much cooler thus preventing blow-outs is plain hogwash without any scientific backing. The temperature difference between nitrogen and plain air under the influence of friction in tyres has been found to be so negligible that it makes no impact on road safety. Let us all remember that staying within permissible speed limits and using vehicles and tyres too in good condition is the only way to stay safe. So let us not allow either our Government or the many shadow forces behind it to take us for an expensive ride!

Varsity Syndicate appointments

GTD to quit politics if corruption charges proved

Mysuru, July 26 (SBD&NNN)- Former Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD) has challenged to take political retirement if someone proves corruption in the recent appointments made to the Syndicate of various Universities in the State.

In a statement, he was reacting to the allegations being made against him regarding the appointments to the Syndicates which had been done in a transparent manner without giving scope for any corruption.

"Only after a thorough check of the qualifications and after consulting former Vice-Chancellors and educationists and without yielding to any political pressures were these appointments made," he said.

"In spite of this, if someone proves corruption in these appointments or any violations, I will take retirement from my political career," challenged Devegowda.

However, since there were objections and allegations raised against these appointments to 13 Universities, he said that they were made as per social justice and educational qualifications.

"Besides, majority of them are Ph.D and PG degree holders and non-political persons. Still there are allegations against me, but all these appointments were made with utmost transparency," he claimed and added, "This is a model in the higher education system itself as a tradition has been set in the appointment of Syndicate members who are education experts."

On Wednesday, some MLCs, representing BJP, had submitted a representation to the Chief Secretary demanding the withdrawal of these appointments raising allegations of corruption.

Hence, GTD has stated that it is not correct to level false allegations against him without understanding the process of appointment.

It may be recalled that the Education Department (Universities) Additional Secretary M.A. Ahmed had issued a notification dated July 20, 2019 regarding the new nominations to the Syndicate of University of Mysore that include H.L. Venkatesh, Retired Professor N. Saraswathi, Shabbir Mohammad Mustafa, P. Manjunath, S.T. Ramachandra and Dayashankar Maili.

Irregularities in Karnataka State Open University

HC asks for 'B' Report filed in cases against two former VCs

Bengaluru, July 26- The Karnataka High Court (HC) yesterday directed the State Government to produce the 'B' Report filed by the investigation agency on the First Information Report (FIR) registered against two former Vice-Chancellors of Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) Prof. K.S. Rangappa and Prof. M.G. Krishnan on alleged irregularities and financial transactions.

A Division Bench comprising Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice H.T. Narendra Prasad issued the direction during the hearing on a PIL petition, filed by the Karnataka State Universities and Colleges Backward Classes and Minority Teachers' Association, Mysuru, represented by its General Secretary.

The Court issued the direction after the Government advocate informed the Court that 'B' Report was filed in the said case as allegations were not established. The petitioner's counsel raised objections to the filed 'B' Report, saying the investigation was not conducted as per the directions of Chancellor (Governor).

The petitioner had sought direction to the Government to initiate a proper and decisive criminal prosecution of Rangappa and Krishnan and four professors of KSOU, based on an inquiry report given in 2015 by Justice K. Bhakthavatsala, a retired judge of High Court which was accepted by the Chancellor with the remark that the criminal prosecution is required to be initiated under the provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Act and the Indian Penal Code.

Justice Bhakthavatsala prima facie held that the irregularities are violations under Prevention of Corruption Act and IPC. Despite several representations, the Chancellor failed to take action on the basis of report. Therefore, a PIL was filed.

During the hearing, the Government counsel said that the investigation agency filed the 'B' Report stating that allegations could not be established. However, counsel for the petitioner pointed out that the criminal investigation was not carried out in the manner in which the Chancellor had directed. Following this, the HC Bench directed production of 'B' Report' while adjourning hearing till August 7.

Cloud-seeding from Mysuru this evening

The sodium chloride and potassium chloride flares that are fitted on the aircraft. These flares are burnt on the clouds to condense water particles to produce rains.

One of the aircraft that will be used for cloud-seeding stationed at HAL Airport in Bengaluru.

Mysuru, July 26 (RK&BCT)- As the monsoon continues to play truant, drought-stricken Karnataka has begun cloud-seeding to enhance precipitation. The cloud-seeding operation was launched from the HAL Airport in Bengaluru yesterday by Karnataka Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Department and the operations will begin from Mysuru this evening.

Cloud-seeding involves spreading of aerosol (silver iodide or sodium chloride) into clouds to stimulate the precipitation process and formation of rains. It has been used in a variety of drought-prone countries, including the United States, China, India and Russia.

Kyathi Climate Modification Consultants and US-based Weather Modification Incorporated are undertaking the project at a cost of Rs. 45 crore. Mandatory clearances have been obtained from the Directorate General of Civil Aviation.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, H.S. Prakash Kumar, Chief Engineer, Rural Water Supply and Sanitation Department, said that two aircraft will take part in cloud-seeding operations based on the availability of clouds. One aircraft will land in Mysore Airport at Mandakalli this afternoon and begin cloud-seeding at 6 pm.

"We are coordinating with Meteorological Department and Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre to identify clouds in the Mysuru region. Mysuru will be the central point and clouds will be seeded in Mysuru, Mandya, Kodagu and Hassan districts," he said.

Radars to identify rain-bearing clouds are being set up and the target areas for cloud-seeding will be identified based on factors such as rainfall deficit and moisture deficiency, cloud formation and data generated by the radars, he explained and added that the conditions are now favourable for cloud-seeding.

"The types of clouds are also important to the success of cloud-seeding. There are significant differences between continental clouds and clouds formed over sea. We are closely coordinating with the Met Department to identify and seed clouds to induce rainfall," he said.

L.K. Atheeq, Principal Secretary, Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Department, took to Twitter to explain about the operations. Sharing a map of Moisture Adequacy Index of districts in the State, he tweeted, "The priority for cloud-seeding is determined by looking at soil moisture images taken from the satellite. The yellows and oranges in this map are the moisture stress areas and we will send our aircraft in those regions. It also depends on cloud cover."

During the trial sortie yesterday, which lasted 34 minutes, four sodium chloride and potassium chloride flares were burnt. "The aircraft is fitted with flares to fire Sodium Chloride & Potassium Chloride into the clouds. This is called Hygroscopic cloud-seeding. This is done from below the clouds," he tweeted.

Special Panel to look into woes of coffee growers

Union Minister for Commerce and Industry Piyush Goyal orders constitution of Committee

Madikeri, July 26 (PS&BCT)- Union Minister for Commerce and Industry Piyush Goyal has issued directions to constitute a Special Committee for guaranteeing more powers to Coffee Board Chairman to address the issues faced by coffee planters.

He issued an order to form a Special Task Force Committee headed by Union Commerce Ministry's Horticulture Department Joint Secretary Darpan Jain and Horticulture Department Director P. Sharavanan.

The Minister held a discussion in New Delhi yesterday with a delegation led by Union Minister Prahlad Joshi, MPs Shobha Karandlaje, Pratap Simha, Tejasvi Surya, Muniswamy, Prabhakar Kore, Shivakumar Udasi, Coffee Board Chairman M.N. Bhoje Gowda and representatives from Karnataka Growers' Federation.

The meeting was held at Parliament Bhavan and Karnataka Coffee Planters Federation represented the coffee planters of Karnataka. Problems faced by the coffee industry were discussed by the Minister.

The Committee will start its work soon after the end of the Monsoon Session in the Parliament in another 15 days and will look into the growers' problems. The Committee members will visit the coffee plantations in Kodagu, Hassan and Chikkamagalur to understand the ground realities and the problems faced by the coffee growers. On the basis of the report filed by the Committee, the Central Government will formulate programmes for coffee growers, the Minister said.

Hit by natural disasters, lack of production and perennial labour problem, coffee growers from Kodagu have been demanding interest waiver on all loans. According to growers, this is an important demand due to the huge losses ranging from 35% to 100% that growers have faced last year from massive floods and landslides.

Coffee Committee President of United Planters' Association of Southern India (UPASI) Jeffry Rebello, Karnataka Planters Association Vice-President Shirish Vijayendran, Kodagu Coffee Growers Association representative Ichettira Bopanna, Coffee Exporters Association President Ramesh Raja, Coffee Board CEO Srivatsa Krishna and others participated in the meeting.

Karnataka Coffee Planters Federation President U.M. Theerthamallesh, who represented the coffee planters of Karnataka, has welcomed the Union Minister's move to constitute a Special Committee to address the problems of coffee growers. He said that the decisive move will go a long way to safeguard the interests of growers.

Devotees throng Chamundi Hill temple on last Ashada Friday

STEPPING TOWARDS DIVINITY: Young women carrying arishina-kumkuma (vermilion-turmeric) in arecanut palm leaf plates seen taking the steps up to the Chamundeshwari Temple on the last Ashada Friday this morning. All of them were stopping at every step to apply arishina-kumkuma on their way up the Hill. Huge crowds were seen taking the steps to the Hill temple.

Mysuru, July 26 (MTY&DM)- Braving early morning intermittent drizzle, thousands of devotees from the city, thronged the Chamundeshwari Temple atop Chamundi Hill to seek blessings of the deity on the auspicious last Ashada Friday today.

There was a serpentine queue at Lalitha Mahal helipad much before the KSRTC started operating free buses to reach the hill top.

The rituals began as early as 3 am today with the performance of Mahanyasa Poorvaka Abhisheka, Pushparchane, Alankara and other pujas to Goddess Chamundeshwari, following which devotees were allowed inside the temple at 5.30 am. The mahamangalarathi was performed at 9.30 am.

The deity, the Sanctum Sanctorum and the temple were decorated with colourful flowers, giving an amazing look.

Prasadam was distributed at Dasoha Bhavan. Also some devotees who had made a vow, were seen distributing prasadam to the devotees at a few points. The authorities had allowed distribution of prasadam after checking it for consumption. Suttur Mutt had also arranged prasadam distribution.

MLAs S.A. Ramdas, Aravind Limbavali, H.D. Revanna and Anitha Kumaraswamy and a host of other politicians were among those who visited the temple.

The Police had made elaborate security arrangements to ensure the safety and security of devotees.

The Police were seen making repeated mike announcements asking the devotees to take care of their belongings and be wary of chain snatchers, pick-pocketers and other thieves.

The KSRTC will operate free bus service from Lalith Mahal Helipad to the Hill at 8 pm. The Hill Temple will be open for devotees till 10.30 pm.

Lucky escape for devotees as bus breaks down

Devotees travelling in a KSRTC bus had a lucky escape this morning as the bus broke down midway and began to move backwards.

The bus had reached midway to the Hill, when it suddenly broke down due to a technical snag. But as the air-brake system of the bus too failed, the bus started moving backwards, when an alert driver Mahadevaswamy succeeded in bringing the bus to a complete halt by slowly running it into the protective wall along the road. The devotees travelling in this bus were sent in other buses in groups.

BJP's delay in making the move had spurred speculation that the State might be heading towards a period of President's Rule. Yeddyurappa's move took everyone by surprise since the BJP Legislature Party didn't formally elect him as the leader yet.

The sudden development came today morning and sources said that BJP National President Amit Shah has given a green signal to Yeddyurappa to form the Government. Also, former Speaker K.G. Bopaiah visited Yeddyurappa's house at Dollar's Colony in Bengaluru to discuss the Government formation and the numbers that the party has.

A group of Karnataka BJP leaders met Amit Shah yesterday and the party weighed its options following the fall of the Congress-JD(S) Government. Party sources said that Amit Shah asked Yeddyurappa to stake claim to form the Government in a pre-emptive move. Though the party had decided to wait for the Speaker's decision and the Supreme Court's directive before forming the Government, BJP leaders wanted to thwart any adverse move by the Speaker that will harm BJP's prospects, sources said.

Soon after meeting with Bopaiah, Yeddyurappa came out of his house and said, "I am going to meet the Governor today at 10 am to stake claim to form the Government and I will request him to hold oath ceremony today itself." Soon, he drove to Raj Bhavan to stake claim and the Governor asked him to take oath at 6 pm.

As per current tally, BJP has 105 members and support of one Independent MLA. Congress has 76 and JD(S) has 37. The current strength of Assembly is 221 after three MLAs — Ramesh Jarkiholi, R. Shankar and Mahesh Kumthahalli — were disqualified by the Speaker K.R. Ramesh Kumar yesterday under the Anti-Defection Law. The half-way mark thereby stands at 111. The speaker will decide remaining rebels' fate in a couple of days.

The BJP move to stake claim to form the Government before the Speaker's disqualification orders of the rest of the defected MLAs has taken the Congress by surprise. "Karnataka Assembly has become an experimental lab for BJP Karnataka," said former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah. Taking to Twitter, Siddharamaiah accused the BJP of trying 'unconstitutional' ways to form the new Government in Karnataka.

"In what Article of the Constitution is the Governor allowed to permit the party to form Government that doesn't have majority? It is a shame," Siddharamaiah tweeted. He further said that BJP has the strength of 105 in the Assembly, which is way less than the half-way mark. "In no way BJP can form the Government if Constitution is followed. This only proves that BJP has no belief in the democratic values."

ZP CEO takes officials to task for abstaining from KDP meeting

Mysuru, July 26 (RKB&DM)- The absence of District-level officials at the KDP (Karnataka Development Programme) meeting at the ZP Hall here this morning saw ZP CEO K. Jyothi warning the officials of action if they continued to abstain from such important meetings in future.

The meeting began with a prolonged discussion on droughts, which is seen as the worst in the district for several decades.

Joint Director of Agriculture Somasundar said that the district received only 291 mm of the 374 mm rainfall this year in the period from January to July 20.

Pointing out that 83 mm less rains meant a 22 percent deficit rainfall, he said that T. Narasipur taluk was the worst drought affected taluk, followed by K.R. Nagar, H.D. Kote and Periyapatna.

He pointed out that only 53 percent of sowing has been recorded in the district, which was a matter of serious concern and the Department was taking all necessary steps to improve the percentage of sowing.

ZP CEO questioned the officials about lethargic implementation of MNREGA scheme, which has forced young farmers to migrate to cities in search of jobs.

Shuttle Bus Service to Mysore Airport from Aug. 15

Pay Rs. 150 to travel in special AC Volvo bus

Mysuru, July 26 (RK&BCT)- This August 15, the KSRTC will launch special air-conditioned Volvo bus services to Mysore Airport — Airport Shuttle Service — from the City Bus Stand. The KSRTC is following the model of the Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) which successfully runs 'Vayu Vajra' services from various parts of Bengaluru to Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) at Devanahalli.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, KSRTC Divisional Controller K.V. Manjunath said that the bus service will be convenient to passengers who are at present dependent on taxi service and other private modes of transport to reach Mysore Airport at Mandakalli.

Under UDAN (Ude Desh ka Aam Nagarik), the Centre's Regional Connectivity Scheme, the Mysore Airport at present operates flights to Chennai, Bengaluru, Kochi, Hyderabad and Goa and the Airport has a packed daily schedule of flights taking off and arriving at various intervals. Also, a few more new flights are planned to Belagavi, Kannur and Shirdi in the near future. "We are planning to introduce Volvo bus service to coincide with the timings of departures and arrivals," Manjunath added.

At present, there is no dedicated bus service to the Mysore Airport and as such, there has been an increased demand from flyers form an exclusive bus service like Bengaluru. Star of Mysore too had published a series of letters from readers urging the KSRTC to cater to their demands.

The bus service will be timed to coincide with the arrivals and departures. While the bus service to passengers leaving Mysuru will have to reach the Airport one hour early to facilitate smooth boarding, buses can pick up passengers as soon as they arrive at the Airport, he added.

"We have conducted a survey which indicated that most of the passengers who depart Mysuru stay at Hotel Radisson Blu, Southern Star and Lalitha Mahal Palace. The Airport also has passengers from Hebbal, Infosys campus and surrounding industrial areas. We are likely to fix a fare of Rs. 150 from the starting point to the Airport and those passengers who want to get down midway might have to pay Rs. 100," Manjunath said.

The survey conducted by the KSRTC has revealed that from the City Bus Stand, the Airport bus will have to travel 20 kilometres, covering Sub-Urban Bus Stand and prominent hotels, picking up passengers. "Even if we have 50 percent occupancy, the Airport Volvo service will be profitable for KSRTC," he said. A Volvo can carry 45 passengers and there is space for luggage too inside the buses.

The BMTC runs the Bengaluru Airport service and it has proved a successful and a profitable venture. "We want to emulate the same model in Mysuru," he said. Manjunath added that 12 routes have already been identified.

The KSRTC Mysuru has a fleet of 36 Volvo buses that are currently operated on various routes, including Chamundi Hills, KRS and Hebbal. Some of the buses on these routes will be diverted for the Airport service and depending on the response, more buses will be added, he revealed.

Kukkarahalli Lake spewing froth

Faecal content, detergent water root causes

By M.T. Yogesh Kumar

Pollution Control Board submits report to DC; Meeting called today at 4 pm on Lake bed to discuss issue

Mysuru, July 26- Gallons of sewage water mostly containing faecal matter and detergent water is entering on a daily basis into the iconic Kukkarahalli Lake in the heart of the city. This sullage is threatening the very existence of the Lake and is the prime reason for the Lake to spew froth, revealed a study conducted by the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB).

On July 11, Star of Mysore had published a detailed report on the froth-emitting Kukkarahalli Lake like the infamous Bellandur Lake in Bengaluru that regularly spews waves of froth and thick foam. The froth at Kukkarahalli Lake was seen at the borders of the Lake washing ashore.

Following the shocking development, Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, who himself is a naturalist and an avid bird watcher, had directed the Pollution Control Board to collect samples and send them for tests. Accordingly, officials visited various corners of the Lake and collected samples.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, KSPCB officials said that the report has been submitted to the DC on Wednesday, July 24 and the DC was holding a meeting of water experts, technical engineers and environmentalists at the Lake premises today at 4 pm to discuss the ways and means to save the dying lake.

The KSPCB report confirms that sewage water – with maximum faecal matter — is flowing from surrounding areas of Kukkarahalli Lake. The report finds that sewage water mixes with soap and detergent water that are washed from Jayalakshmipuram, Paduvarahalli and surrounding areas. A strong mix of heavy metal content enters into the Lake through gravitational force.

This causes a frothy layer on the waters and when wind blows, froth is formed, the report has concluded, underlying an urgent need to identify the source of sewage water and stop its further flow.

Environmentalists had earlier suspected that sewage water is flowing from surrounding areas through the magic box on the on the Hunsur Road. The magic box was constructed last year for the rainwater to flow smoothly into the Lake through gravitational force. Instead, it is carrying sewage and filth.

Traffic ACP cautions consumers while buying products

Mysuru, July 26 (RKB&NNN)- Consumers must always keep an eye on the products when they buy them as otherwise they will get cheated, said ACP (Traffic) G.N. Mohan.

He was speaking after inaugurating the District Committee of Nava Karnataka Grahakara Jagruthi Vedike at the Institution of Engineers' S.P. Bhat Hall here yesterday and said there is always a tussle between the consumer and the seller as the former always feels that he or she is being cheated by the manufacturer or seller.

It is also found that most of the manufacturers do not adhere to stringent manufacturing standards as they do not mention the specifications like quality, expiry date and date of manufacture.

By not noticing these instructions on the label many a times, customers are sold products which have passed the expiry date and thus they get cheated. If people for instance buy medicines which have passed the expiry date then it might not have the potency and thus it will be useless to buy such drugs. Hence, care must always be taken by the customers to check for details, he said.

The consumers should also know that according the Consumer Protection Act they have every right to question the shop owner or the manufacturer if there are any malpractices and bring it to the notice of Grahakara Parishats.

For instance if the Service Tax is included in the bill while one goes to eat at a restaurant then it can be questioned as Service Tax has already been included in the GST (Goods and Services Tax), he pointed out. The consumer should always learn to question when one sees a product that is duplicated and in turn create awareness among the people, said Mohan. Nava Karnataka Grahakara Jagruthi Vedike State President R. Chandrakant, State Secretary K.C. Boregowda, District President S.N. Manjunath, D. Devaraj Urs Backward Classes Development Corporation retired Manager V. Channappa and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Redaction

Pronunciation: rih-DAK-shun.

Meaning: An act or instance of preparing something for publication; a work that has been redacted : edition, version.

Origin: Here's a quiz for all you etymology buffs. Can you pick the words from the following list that come from the same Latin root?

A. redaction B. prodigal C. agent D. essay. E. navigate F. ambiguous. If you guessed all of them, you are right. Now, for bonus points, name the Latin root that they all have in common. If you knew that it is the verb agere, meaning to "to drive, lead, act, or do," you get an A+. Redaction is from the Latin verb redigere ("to bring back" or "to reduce"), which was formed by adding the prefix red- (meaning "back") to agere. Some other agere offspring include act, agenda, cogent, litigate, chasten, agile, and transact.

Example: "The government might have to make the findings and evidence public, with the fewest redactions needed to protect sources." — Peter H. Schuck, The Los Angeles Times.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Ring the changes

Meaning: To employ alternative methods.

Origin: This phrase derives from the practice of bell ringing. Each pattern of the order of striking the bells is called a change. In order to 'ring the changes' all the variations of striking pattern are rung, bringing the ring back to its starting point. Bell-ringing is of course an ancient pastime and consequently the figurative use of this phrase is also old. Thomas Adams refers to it in The divells banket described in sixe sermons, 1614:

"Some ring the Changes of opinions."

The term took on another meaning in the 19th century. While acknowledging that "the expression originally came from the belfry" John C. Hotten's A Dictionary of Modern Slang, Cant, and Vulgar Words, 1859 glosses the meaning as: "Ringing the Changes, changing bad money for good; in respectable society the phrase is sometimes employed to denote that the aggressor has been paid back in his own coin, as in practical joking, when the laugh is turned against the jester."

Rings and jewels are not gifts, but apologies for gifts. The only true gift is a portion of thyself. — Ralph Waldo Emerson
